 Title: Strategic: Registration for GST

GST Implication:

Background

- PIHH receives grant from the Penang State Government via Penang Development Corporation (the holding corporation) for the purpose of promoting and developing halal industry in Penang.
- PIHH also receives income from halal industry related events held within and outside Malaysia, of which the annual taxable turnover does not exceed RM500,000.

GST Implication

- The grant received may be treated as consideration for services supplied by PIHH for GST purposes. However, supply made to State Government may be given relief from GST under the GST (Relief) Order. As of-to-date, the GST (Relief) Order has not been issued yet.
- If the grant received from the State Government is included as part of taxable income, PIHH will be required to register for GST as the total taxable supplies will exceed the prescribed threshold of RM500,000.
- However, if the total taxable supplies (if the grant received from State Government is not regarded as taxable supplies) is less than RM500,000, PIHH is not required to be registered but PIHH can still apply for voluntary registration, if it desire. Once PIHH voluntarily register, PIHH shall need to be registered for a minimum of 2 years.
- PIHH can be registered provided PIHH can satisfy the Director General that it is committed to doing business by submitting the following documents:-
 - details of business arrangements (business plans, plants, location);
 - copies of contract for establishment of premises such as rental of premises / construction of pipelines/ purchase of equipment;
 - details of any patents;
 - details of business purchases; or
 - other documentary evidence.
- Once registered, PIHH must account for GST whenever PIHH makes taxable supplies. When PIHH acquires inputs from a GST registered person, PIHH will be charged GST on the purchases and such GST is claimable if it is incurred for making taxable supplies.
- No output tax / input tax is chargeable/ claimable if PIHH does not register under GST.
- In view of the above, apart from the initial cost outlay in getting ready for GST, consideration of whether or not to be registered would also need to take into account PIHH's resources to support the recurring process of GST compliance (refer issue log on Budgeting and Resource Requirement for GST Implementation).

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Monitor the issuance of GST Relief Order by Customs
2. Seek Customs confirmation on the GST treatment for the grant income.
3. Conduct cost-benefit analysis on whether it is feasible to register under GST (if does not exceed the threshold)

 Title: Strategic: Budgeting and Resource Requirement for GST Implementation

GST Implication: Background

1. The introduction of the GST will require PIHH to allocate necessary budget and resources to meet the cost to implement GST.

GST Implication

2. The initial cost outlay in getting ready for the GST will be material. This will involve amongst others incurring costs for upgrading IT systems, changes to stationary to comply with GST requirements, training of staff, software upgrades, etc. These will be one-off expenditure.

3. As a consequence, these costs and the timing of their acquisition would need to be considered in any budgeting / cost assessment process.

4. The introduction of the GST will also necessitate a review of the current allocation of resources with a view to determining whether further resources should be allocated to meet the additional demands of the GST.

5. As such, PIHH will require resources to undertake the following:

- GST technical reference providing technical support to the Finance Team and other departments on the GST treatment of new transactions and new product lines
- Act as a contact point for Customs enquiries
- Undertake internal GST audit / reviews of systems and processes to ensure compliance
- Process and maintain invoices to substantiate input tax claims
- Prepare, complete and submit the quarterly GST return including reviewing, verifying and reconciling all data captured.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan: Recommendations

1. Plan and document a budget to fund the necessary expenditure.
2. Devise a plan outlining the timing of the changes (and expenditure) required.
3. Communicate changes to employees.
4. Review and assess the resource requirements for GST.
5. Management to determine the resource needed to ensure PIHH's GST requirement is met.

 Title: Strategic: CAPEX

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may be planning to make significant capital expenditures near the GST appointed date.

GST Implication

2. Where capital goods are currently not subject to sales tax, purchasing such goods before the GST appointed date will have potential tax savings to PIHH.
3. Alternatively, for capital goods that are currently subject to sales tax (10%) or have embedded sales tax element, it may be more economical to purchase these goods post-GST (GST of 6%). In addition to the lower rate of tax, PIHH would also be able to claim some input tax credit on the GST charged.
4. Therefore, PIHH should consider accelerating or delaying its capital expenditures based upon the tax implications. It should be noted that GST should only be a factor, and not driver of purchasing decisions.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan: Recommendations

1. Identify capital expenditures to be made close to GST appointed date.
2. Analyse potential tax savings and cash flow benefit for purchasing the goods before (sales tax regime) or after implementation of GST. Consider:
 - (a) Goods that are not subject to sales tax or Company enjoys sales tax exemption on such goods.
 - (b) GST rate higher/lower than the current sales tax rate, input tax mechanism.
3. Consider accelerating or delaying capital expenditure based upon the above tax implications.
4. Negotiate with the suppliers/vendors on the change in the timing of these capital expenditures.
5. Obtain management sign-off on decision to accelerate or delay purchases.
6. Update the purchase policy on the change in the timing of capital expenditures.
7. Communicate the updated policy on acquisitions to the relevant staff in the Company.

 Title: Strategic: Preferred vendor management

GST Implication: Background

1. Malaysian businesses will only be required to register for GST if their annual turnover exceeds RM500,000. All other businesses, have the option to register, but can also opt to remain outside of the Malaysian GST system.
2. As a result, it is likely that not all of PIHH's existing suppliers and vendors will be registered for GST. This will mean that there will be some vendors / suppliers who issue tax invoices with GST, whilst others do not, even though both may be providing the same type of good or service.
3. PIHH has a number of suppliers / vendors that provides goods and services who may potentially be non-GST-registered.

GST Implication

3. GST registered businesses can claim input tax and issue GST tax invoices and thus:
 - Potentially have a lower cost base because they are able to claim input tax and hence offer PIHH lower prices.
 - Will be able to issue PIHH with GST invoices that will allow PIHH to claim an input tax credit.
4. A preferred vendor program involves establishing a policy to acquire goods and services from suppliers who are registered for GST to access the above benefits.
5. For example, PIHH may consider instructing any current vendor, to voluntarily register for GST in order for PIHH to derive the above benefits.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Analyse the existing suppliers / vendors if they are potential GST registrant.
2. Determine if management would establish policy on preferred vendor program or continue engaging non-registered vendors.
3. Option 1: If management decides to implement the programme, communicate policy to vendors and develop procedures to track GST status of vendors.
4. Option 2 : If management decides to continue with current practices and engage non-registered vendors, ensure the GST status of the vendor and the transactions (i.e. with GST vs without GST) are tracked separately.
5. Update the changes to processes and systems to enable tracking of vendors and their transactions.
6. Educate staff on the updated processes and systems changes.
7. If necessary, educate suppliers / vendors on GST and propose that they voluntarily register for GST.
8. Communicate with vendors on the Company's policy on preferred vendor scheme.

 Title: Compliance: Tax coding for GST

GST Implication: Background

1. In order to accurately report its output tax, claim its input tax or track information for reporting requirements, PIHH must 'tax code' all of its revenue and expense items. Some examples of GL codes that may have transactions with different GST treatment are as follows:

- General expenses - includes ad-hoc expenses or small purchases
- Travelling expenses - toll claims and certain public transportation (e.g. city taxi cab) are exempt, while local air travel and certain other public transportation (e.g. any airport taxi) are standard rated

GST Implication

2. 'Tax coding' is a vital step in the GST 'readiness' process whereby a designated GST treatment (e.g. standard rated, zero rated, exempt, out-of-scope) is applied to a transaction, so that PIHH's systems can automatically recognise whether output tax is collected or input tax can be claimed or the information tracked for reporting requirements.

3. There are three common approaches to tax coding:

- Account (GST code assigned to each GL account code);
- Customer (GST code assigned to each vendor / customer);
- Transaction (GST code assigned to each individual transaction recorded in system)

Account Approach

4. PIHH may opt for an account approach. This may require more GL codes if PIHH's current list of GL codes do not accommodate the separation of different GST treatment (i.e. currently a single GL code may record revenue streams with multiple transactions with different GST treatment).

5. If PIHH elect to use the account approach, transactions in these accounts will need to be separated to reflect their respective GST treatment leading to the need for more account codes. Some examples of GL codes that may have transactions with different GST treatment are as follows:

- Travelling expenses - toll claims and certain public transportation (e.g. taxi fares) are exempt, while local air travel and certain other transportation (e.g. any airport bus) are standard rated
- Sundry income/expenses
- Entertainment expenses - incurred for employees and clients (claimable), non-employees (blocked from claim)

Customer Approach

6. A customer approach may be difficult to maintain given that multiple customers / vendors will have multiple transactions with different GST treatments. In a situation where customer numbers are voluminous this approach would be impractical as each customer account would need to be segregated by the different GST treatment of transactions undertaken.

Transaction Approach

7. A transaction approach will require specific identification of the GST treatment attached to each transaction. This will likely be done at the transaction processing system requiring more involvement by the individual(s) processing the transaction to ensure each transaction is coded correctly. This can be achieved by the creation of an automated process and checklists in the system or through the use of manual processes and checklists contained in a policy manual.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Assess and determine most appropriate approach to tax coding (i.e. account, customer or transaction approach).
2. Develop policy for the periodic review of selected tax coding approach.
3. Seek management guidance on any new items arises from the selected tax coding approach (i.e. new GL code).
4. Establish an audit and review policy to review and update GST coding for existing and new items (i.e. account, customer or transaction).
5. Determine changes to processes and systems to accommodate the new GST coding for new items.
6. Implement changes to processes and systems.
7. Educate staff on the updated processes and systems changes.

 Title: Compliance: Record keeping requirements for GST purposes

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may keep / manage / maintain records on its transactions in either soft or hard copies.

GST Implication

2. The GST legislation requires that every taxable person and certain non-taxable person to keep full and true records of all transactions which affect or may affect his liability to tax.

3. These records should be kept in Malaysia except as otherwise approved by the Director General and shall be in the national or English language, and should be preserved for a period of seven years from the latest date to which the records relate.

4. The "certain non-taxable person" mentioned above are as follows:

- a. any person who has ceased to be a taxable person and has made/may make bad debt relief claim;
- b. imported services supplied to the recipient, who is a non-taxable person, for the purposes of business;
- c. goods of a taxable person are sold by a non-taxable person to recover any debt owed by the taxable person;
- d. supply by the auctioneer, who is a non-taxable person in his own name on behalf of the principal/owner of the goods who is a taxable person; and
- e. a non-taxable person in Malaysia, who receives goods (in the course or furtherance of business) from an approved toll manufacturer.

5. The proper retention of such documents are essential as evidence of PIHH's GST liabilities and entitlements.

6. For instance, in the event of a Customs audit, if PIHH is unable to substantiate a claim for input tax credits with the relevant documentation, there is a risk those input tax credits would be denied and penalties would be imposed for submitting an incorrect GST return.

7. The registered person must keep the original documentation which is normally kept in paper (hard copy) format. However, where the record is in an electronically readable form, the record shall be kept in such manner as to enable the record to be readily accessible and convertible into writing.

8. When the record is originally in a manual form and is subsequently converted into an electronic record, the record shall be retained in its original form prior to the conversion. Such records shall be admissible as evidence in any proceedings. For example, records kept in a computer using magnetic tape or disc, should be readily converted into a satisfactory legible form and available to Customs on request to allow its officers to check registered person's operation and the information stored through the person in charge of the computer or its software.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Develop procedures for retention of GST records for the required period.
2. Determine and review current record retention procedures/policy.
3. Communicate to the relevant employees on the retention policy and procedures.

 Title: Compliance: Issuance of Tax Invoices

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH holds annual events such as Penang International Halal Expo and Conference (PIHEC), which are open to general public.
2. Participation fees and booth fees are collected and recorded as 'revenue' in the accounts.
3. PIHH may issue invoices for the above mentioned fee charged to event participants, SMEs and large corporations.

GST Implications

4. Once registered for GST, PIHH is required to issue a valid tax invoice when PIHH make any taxable supply of goods or services in the course of its business. The tax invoice must contain the prescribed particulars in respect of the supply as required by the GST law.

5. PIHH is not required to issue tax invoices when it makes the following:

- zero-rated supply;
- deemed supply of imported services; or
- a supply made without consideration on which tax is charged (e.g. free good over the Gift Rule threshold of RM 500 per person per year).

6. Although exempt and zero rated supplies do not require tax invoice to be issued, for administrative ease PIHH may choose to issue tax invoices for all its transactions with customers but correctly code the transactions in the tax invoice issued as standard rated, exempt or zero rated.

Content of a valid tax invoice

7. The tax invoice should contain the following particulars:
- the words "tax invoice";
 - an invoice serial number;
 - date of issue of the invoice;
 - name, address and GST identification number of PIHH;
 - the name and address of the recipient to whom the goods and services are supplied;
 - description of (including the type of supply) and the quantity / extent of the goods or services supplied;
 - any discount offered;
 - the amount payable (excluding GST) for each supply;
 - the total amount payable (excluding GST and including GST); and
 - GST rate and total GST chargeable.

Statements, special forms, receipts or endorsements could be allowed to be used as invoices for GST purposes, provided the necessary information as required for a valid tax invoice is in those documents. Conversely, if you wish a particular document not to be considered as such, it would be best practice to state such on the invoice. This is significant because the issuance of a tax invoice triggers the 'time of supply' (PIHH's liability to account for output tax).

Tax invoices expressed in a foreign currency

8. Where amounts on a tax invoice are expressed in a foreign currency (other than Malaysian ringgit), PIHH must convert the amounts to Malaysian currency. The conversion into Ringgit must be at the selling rate of exchange prevailing in Malaysia at the time of supply.

Mixed supply invoices

9. Where PIHH issue an invoice containing both standard rated (subject to GST) and exempt or zero rated supplies, PIHH must state separately on the invoice the gross total amount payable in respect of each supply and the corresponding GST rates.

10. If a mistake is made on an invoice, PIHH should treat the invoice as cancelled and clearly mark the tax invoice "cancelled". A corresponding Credit Note should be issued to cancel the invoice.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendation

1. Identify type of documents (i.e. statements, memo, debit note etc) that are issued to clients/customers/related companies.
2. Management to decide on:
 - Whether present documents should be standardised to meet the prescribed requirement for valid tax invoice.
 - Whether to modify current documentation to meet requirements of tax invoice, or develop a new tax invoice.
3. IT to review and document invoicing module modifications to comply with the tax invoicing requirements under the GST.
4. Design and implement the necessary modifications to the current invoices / documentation.
6. Identify instances where PIHH cannot meet GST tax invoice requirements (e.g. where you do not know all the invoicing details at the time of supply or until a later date).
6. Ensure a process or system is in place to enable the issuance of tax invoice.
7. Determine processes and systems changes to enable the issuance of a tax invoice.
8. Implement processes and systems changes.
9. Educate staff on the processes and systems changes.

 Title: Compliance: Time of Supply

GST Implication: Background

- PIHH may have the following arrangements:
 - PIHH collect / receive payments in respect of participation fee and booth fee from event participants, SMEs and large corporations before PIHH issues invoice to them.
 - PIHH receive payments from or issue invoice to event participants, SMEs and large corporations after the events.
- There are instances where PIHH collects down payments / deposits / booking fee which forms part of the consideration from event participants, SMEs and large corporations.

GST Implication

- For GST purposes, GST must be accounted for in the tax period in which the earlier of the following events takes place:
 - the date when goods are removed or made available or when the services are performed (the basic tax point);
 - the date when a tax invoice is issued; or
 - the date when payment is received.
- The GST legislation provides a concession to the above when a tax invoice is issued within 21 days from the basic tax point, the date of invoice is taken as the time of supply for GST purposes.
- If the tax invoice fails to be issued within 21 days, the GST liability is brought back to the basic tax point, which would result in a cash flow loss to PIHH and a potential penalty for an incorrect GST return.
- For cases where deposit forms part of the consideration for the supply, such payments fall within the scope of GST and tax must be accounted for on receipt of the deposit (if it is received before the issuance of the tax invoice) (refer to issue log on "Advance and Deposit Receipts).
- For retention of any part of a consideration by your customer pending full and satisfactory performance of the contract, or any part of it, by PIHH, the time of such supply is the earliest of the payment is received or tax invoice is issued by PIHH.
- PIHH needs to ensure that process and procedures are in place to identify every payments received since advance payment or prepayment received may have GST's time of supply implications.
- PIHH will be required to monitor the trigger points for time of supply (above) and ensure GST is accounted for in the correct taxable period.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Put in place processes and systems to monitor the trigger points for time of supply and ensure GST is accounted for appropriately.
2. Determine capability of current process and system to issue tax invoice for all taxable supplies within 21 days from the date the goods are removed / services are performed.
3. If the 21 days rule cannot be complied with, reach agreement with customs authorities on alternative approach or concessionary treatment for longer time frame on the requirement to issue tax invoice or use of alternative documents (e.g. bank statement as a tax invoice).
4. Communicate policies and processes to the relevant staff.

 Title: Compliance: Advance and Deposit Receipts

GST Implication: Background

1. There are instances where PIHH collects down payments / deposits / booking fee which forms part of the consideration from event participants, SMEs and large corporations.

GST Implications

2. Generally, deposits that are refundable or non-refundable or in the form of security given in respect of any supply of goods and services will not attract GST if it does not form part of payment for the supply.

3. If deposit payment will be offset against the purchase price of the supply, such deposits falls within the scope of GST and tax must be accounted on the receipt of the deposit.

4. Other types of deposit:

- i. A security deposit is not a consideration for a supply and not subject to GST as it is refundable.
- ii. A forfeiture deposit is not a consideration for a supply because it constitutes a compensation payment for damages due to non-performance of the contract.

5. A GST liability can arise when a payment is received, even where the good or service has not yet been delivered or performed. GST will need to be accounted for on any advance or prepayments for a supply in the month in which the payment is received.

6. The only occasion when the receipt of a payment would not trigger GST is where that payment received is not treated as payment for any goods or services supplied by PIHH (e.g. security deposit). GST on the deposit payment will be ignored and will only become payable once the deposit is applied as consideration for the supply (e.g. applied against lease rental or property purchase price). Returned or forfeited deposits are not payments for a supply and are not subject to GST.

7. PIHH's requirement for vendors (e.g. PIHH's solicitors) to deposit certain amount of funds in PIHH will not attract GST.

8. It is important that PIHH makes the distinction between security deposits and advance payments that PIHH receives. A security deposit can only be a payment made to 'secure performance'.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

Advance payment received by PIHH

1. Identify any advance payment / pre-payment / mobilisation fees / other transactions

- or payments of similar nature received by PIHH.
2. Review these transactions to identify the characteristic of the supply either it is a deposit or advance payment under the GST legislation.
 3. Establish a policy or guideline for determining the nature of the payment received i.e. as deposit or as advance payment.
 4. Ensure that a process or system is in place that identify an amount received/paid is either a deposit or advanced payment.
 5. Ensure that a process or system is in place that identify when deposits are forfeited or when it is applied as consideration.
 6. Ensure system/processes are in place to track and account GST in the period where the above payment has been received (although tax invoice has not been issued, or goods has not been supplied/services performed).
 7. Implement the processes and systems changes.
 8. Educate employees on the processes and systems changes.

*Note:

- A receipt of a payment which is merely “security deposit” would not trigger GST output tax liability.
- However, when the deposit is applied as consideration for a supply, GST applies (consider time of supply rule).

Advance payment made by PIHH

1. Identify any advanced payment / pre-payment / mobilisation fees / other transactions or payments of similar nature made by PIHH
2. Review these transactions to identify the characteristic of the supply either it is a deposit or advanced payment under the GST legislation.
3. Ensure that a process or system is in place that identify the payment made is either a deposit or advanced payment.
4. Ensure that a process or system is in place that identify when deposits are forfeited or when it is applied as consideration.
5. Consider establishing policy/negotiate with supplier to issue tax invoice upfront to enable PIHH to claim input tax credit as soon as possible.
6. Ensure system/processes are in place to track and claim input tax credit as soon as a tax invoice is received.
7. Implement the processes and systems changes.
8. Educate employees on the processes and systems changes.

 Title: Compliance: Miscellaneous Expenditure

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH currently logs certain expenses into "Miscellaneous" accounts.
2. These accounts are meant to capture non recurrent or ad hoc expenses during the year.

GST Implication

3. The use of 'general' or 'catch-all' general ledger codes will not be appropriate for GST purposes, as the GST treatment of the transactions recorded could vary. It is important that transactions are appropriately captured and recorded to ensure that GST is correctly accounted for.
4. PIHH will need to ensure that the transactions recorded in its "general" or "catch-all" general ledger codes be tax coded through the transaction method so that the appropriate GST treatment of each transaction is correctly accounted for. It would therefore be beneficial to minimise the number of transactions that are recorded in the "general" or "catch-all" general ledger codes

 Title: Compliance: De minimis and Incidental Financial Supplies

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may make the following supplies in its business:
 - Interest income from bank deposits
 - The provision of advances to staff

GST Implications

2. For GST purposes the above supplies are treated as exempt. The implication is that input tax incurred in making these exempt supplies would not be claimable.

3. The GST Guide however provides a concession whereby prescribed "incidental exempt supplies" are treated as taxable supplies; the implication being that all input tax incurred would be claimable (without the need for tracking and / or apportionment). The list of prescribed "incidental exempt supplies" are as follows:-

- the deposit of money;
- the exchange of currency;
- the provision of any loan, advance or credit to your employees;
- the provision of any loan, advance or credit between related parties;
- the holding of bonds, debentures, notes or other similar instruments representing or evidencing indebtedness, whether secured or otherwise;
- the transfer of ownership of securities;
- the holding or transfer of ownership of any unit or other similar instruments under a trust fund; and
- the hedging of any interest rate risk, currency risk, utility price risk, freight price risk or commodity price risk.

4. If PIHH provides exempt supplies other than the above prescribed "incidental exempt supplies", the GST Guide further provides for a concession where the total value of your exempt supplies does not exceed;

- an average of RM5,000 per month; and
- an amount equal to 5% of the total value of all taxable and exempt supplies made in that period.

If these restrictions are satisfied, PIHH will be eligible to claim all input tax incurred on your exempt supplies and avoid apportionment and tracking of input tax.(refer to issues log on "Apportionment of 'Indirect Costs' for Recovery of Input Tax")

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Review and document all exempt supplies made by PIHH.
2. Determine and confirm the incidental financial supplies provided.
3. Ensure that the input tax attributable to the above incidental financial supplies are being tax coded properly as fully claimable.

4. Determine if the de minimis criteria will be met for non-prescribed "incidental exempt supplies".
5. If the de minimis criteria will be met, determine and implement steps to monitor the criteria moving forwards.
6. If the de minimis criteria is or will be breached, PIHH needs to determine on appropriate formula to apportion its input tax.
7. Identify the process and system changes to monitor the input tax claim.
8. Educate staff on the processes and systems.

 Title: Compliance: Documentation to Claim Input Tax Credit

GST Implication: Background

1. With the implementation of GST, the tax charged by local vendors and GST paid to Customs on imported goods via the customs import declaration form, 'K1', will become an additional expense to PIHH, unless PIHH is able to claim an input tax credit ("ITC"). GST is also payable on imported services.
2. Currently, there may be occasions where PIHH does not receive any invoice for services rendered by its related companies.
3. There may also be services rendered by PIHH's related companies for which invoices are issued.
4. There may also be occasions also where costs are incurred and invoiced under the name of the employees instead of PIHH (e.g. purchase of flight tickets online or premises where PIHH doesn't have a corporate account).

GST Implications

5. GST incurred on local acquisition of goods and services can be claimed as input tax provided that the claimant is in possession of a valid tax invoice, and the input tax to be claimed is:

- In respect of a taxable supply (i.e. a standard rated or zero rated supply) made by you; and
- Not blocked from input tax claim.

Without a valid tax invoice, input tax is not claimable.

6. The criteria for a valid tax invoice includes:

- The invoice must be issued in the full name of "PIHH Development Sdn Bhd" to enable PIHH to claim the ITC. For example any tax invoice issued in the name of "PIHH" or "PDC" cannot be used to make an input tax claim by PIHH.
- The invoice contains all the prescribed information required for a tax invoice.

7. For purchases of not more than RM500 in a single invoice, a simplified tax invoice would be sufficient for PIHH to claim an ITC whereby the name of PIHH is not required on the simplified tax invoice.

8. For purchases exceeding RM500 in a single invoice, a simplified tax invoice would not be sufficient for PIHH to claim the full ITC. Under the GST Guide, the maximum amount of ITC that PIHH can claim on a simplified tax invoice is restricted to RM30. Therefore, when PIHH's staff make any purchases exceeding RM500 for business purpose, they must request a full tax invoice from the supplier in the full name of "PIHH Development Sdn Bhd" in order for PIHH to claim the full ITC.

9. You are not required to make payment before claiming an ITC; possessing a valid tax invoice is sufficient evidence for making a ITC claim. However, if after 6 months of the invoice being issued and PIHH still have not made payment to its supplier, PIHH must repay any ITC it has claimed with respect to the invoice. In the event of settlement of the debt, you may then reclaim the ITC.

10. However, do note that a pro forma invoice is not regarded as a valid tax invoice. PIHH can only claim ITC on local acquisitions if PIHH has a valid tax invoice.

11. In respect of importation of goods, PIHH must hold a valid Customs declaration form K1. In respect of clearance of goods from bonded warehouses, PIHH must hold Customs declaration form K1 or K9.

12. For importation of services, PIHH is required to hold a document such as the foreign supplier's invoice to show that PIHH is entitled to ITC.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendation

1. Develop new policy and guidelines for purchases to have valid tax invoices from GST registered person.
2. Establish new policy where tax invoice for purchases must be issued in PIHH's full name.
3. Update current process to ensure that a tax invoice is issued by GST-registered vendor for any purchases.
4. Implement procedures and processes to ensure ITC are only claimed on valid tax invoices for local purchases of supplies or Customs declaration forms, K1, for imported goods.

 Title: Compliance: Accounting recognition vs GST recognition for input tax claim

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH accrues expenses in relation to telephone charges, accounting fee, audit fee, professional fee, secretarial fee and etc.

GST Implication

1. The accounting recognition of costs or early payment of expenses does not lead to a claim of input tax if there is no tax invoice available.

2. PIHH will need to ensure that input tax is only recognised when a tax invoice is received. Hence, for costs / expenses that have been incurred but invoices not yet received, PIHH may want to expedite the receipt of tax invoice from these suppliers.

3. For subsequent reversal of Balance Sheet items to Profit and Loss Statement (when consumed / used), PIHH must ensure there is no double claiming of input tax.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan: Recommendations

1. Identify affected transactions.
2. Implement procedures and processes to ensure input tax credits are only claimed on valid tax invoices.
3. Determine the processes and systems changes to monitor ITC claimed at the availability of tax invoice.
4. Review reversal of accrued expense to ensure correct claim of ITC.
5. Implement processes and systems changes.

 Title: Compliance: GST on importation of goods

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may import goods or acquire fixed assets from overseas.

GST Implication

2. Under GST, the importation of goods into Malaysia will generally be subject to 6% GST which is payable upon clearance of those goods from Customs.
3. GST will be chargeable on the value of imported goods which will be the aggregate of:
 - Value determined for Customs purposes - which is the value of goods shown on the invoice, plus adjustments such as freight, insurance, packing, commission and brokerage, assist, royalty, proceeds and other charges and expenses associated during the importation of the goods, and
 - Customs duty, and
 - Excise duty.
4. For imports which are billed in foreign currency, the value of the imports must be converted into Ringgit Malaysia using the exchange rates published by the Royal Malaysian Customs.
5. An importer who is a taxable person would be eligible to recover the GST paid on imported goods subject to the normal rules.

Documents Required

6. In addition to the documents required for general input tax credit claim (refer to issue log on "Compliance: Documentation to Claim Input Tax Credit"), PIHH shall be required to keep the prescribed form/documents (i.e. Customs K1 forms) stating that PIHH is either the importer, consignee, or owner together with the amount of GST charged or paid on the goods.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Identify all transactions involving importation of goods from overseas supplier.
2. Update current procedures and processes to ensure that all relevant documents on imported goods, including Customs K1 forms are in the name of PIHH and properly retained to support input tax credit claim.
3. Ensure processes are in place to ensure input tax credit is claimed in the same month of importation.

 Title: Compliance: Imported services (reverse charge)

GST Implication: Background

- The Company currently incurs the following expenses for services provided by overseas vendors:
 - advertisement fee paid to foreign publications e.g. Japan Times, Oxford Today for purpose of promoting halal industry in Penang
 - honorarium (including air fares, food and lodging expenses) paid to overseas speakers for attending conferences in Penang
 - participation fee and booth rental fee for attending overseas exhibition

GST Implication

- PIHH is required to account for GST upon payment for imported services (i.e. services acquired from non-resident suppliers which would have been subject to GST if supplied in Malaysia) which are consumed in Malaysia. "Consumed in Malaysia" means any service which is used, utilised, or enjoyed in Malaysia.
- In the case of imported services, the GST liability shifts from the overseas supplier to PIHH. PIHH is treated as if PIHH is making and receiving the supply. Since PIHH is treated as making a supply, PIHH is required to account GST on supply of imported services as an output tax.
- If the imported services are used for making taxable supplies, PIHH is entitled to claim the GST incurred as input tax. If the supply is used for making exempt supplies, PIHH is not entitled to claim the GST as input tax. If the imported services are used for making both taxable and exempt supplies, then PIHH has to apportion the GST incurred and claim the proportion of GST on imported services used for making taxable supplies.
- PIHH has to declare both output tax due and input tax claimed in its GST return for the month where the payment for the supply of imported services was made.
- PIHH does not need to issue any tax invoice on the imported service received.
- For input tax claim, PIHH is required to hold document such as the foreign supplier's invoice to show that he is entitled to claim input tax.
- Based on the GST Guide, the value of the supply of imported services shall be taken to be such amount as is equal to:-
 - in the case of the recipient who is not connected to the supplier of such services, whatever consideration paid by the recipient; or
 - in the case of the recipient who is connected to the supplier of such services, the open market value.

2. Establish and test process changes to identify overseas vendors providing taxable imported services and non-taxable (exempt/out-of-scope) imported services.

 Title: Compliance: Blocked Input Tax

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may incur GST on the following expenses:
 - Insurance premium for medical and personal accident;
 - Medical expenses [medical fees paid to clinics and hospitals for dental expenses, staff health screening expenses, hospitalisation expenses (in-patient), medical clinic expenses (out-patient)] for both the staffs and their immediate family;
 - Entertainment expenses such as for employees, customers, vendors, business associates and etc.

GST Implication

1. GST incurred on certain prescribed supplies will be blocked from any input tax credit (referred to as 'blocked input tax'). This includes the following:-

a) Club subscription fees - Refers to any club, association, society or organization established principally for recreational or sporting purposes. The fees are any joining fee, subscription fee, membership fee, transfer fee or other consideration charged.

b) Medical and personal accident insurance premium - Includes any payment or contribution made by PIHH towards an insurance contract indemnifying the company against the cost of medical treatment or personal accident of the employees.

c) Medical expenses - Employee medical expenses that incur GST cannot be recovered by PIHH including any medical, dental, optical, pharmaceutical expenses.

d) Family benefits - Includes payments made in providing benefits (including hospitality of any kind) to wives, husbands, children or relatives of PIHH employees.

e) Entertainment expenses - GST incurred on entertainment expenditure will only be recoverable to the extent that it relates to employees or existing customers of PIHH. Any GST incurred on entertainment expenses relating to family members, business partners, potential client and general public would not be recoverable. Input tax would also be denied for former employees, job applicants and shareholders. (Please refer to issue log Compliance: Entertainment Expenditures)

"Entertainment expense" includes —

- a. the provision of any food, drink, recreation or hospitality of any kind, or
- b. the provision of accommodation or travel associated with the provision of food, drink, recreation or hospitality by a person or an employee of his to anyone in connection with a trade or business carried on by that person.

"recreation or hospitality" would include:

- a. a trip to a theme park or a recreation centre;
- b. a stay at a holiday resort;
- c. tickets to a show or theatre; and

d. entry to sporting activities/events.

f) Supply, importation or hire, of a passenger motor car - Only GST incurred on passenger motor car used exclusively for business purposes would be eligible to claim input tax credit; subject to having meet certain conditions. Please refer to issue log "Compliance: Company Cars".

g) Supply of goods or services relating to repair, maintenance and refurbishment of a passenger motor car - refer to the GST implication as outlined in item (f) above.

2. Consequently, these expenses will increase your cost of doing business. In the event that these goods are "re-supplied" to a third party, there will be no requirement to account for output tax on the subsequent "re-supply" of the goods. However, the GST position regarding the "re-supply" of blocked services (e.g. cross charge of blocked entertainment expenses to a subsidiary) (if any) would require clarification from the Customs.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Identify all potential blocked input tax expenditure items.
2. Assess the financial impact of the expenses on the company's bottom line and whether any changes in policies required.
3. Seek management guidance on implementing a policy on procuring blocked input tax items.
4. Develop a process to segregate between employee or existing customer, and other entertainment expenses.
5. Use appropriate GL codes for the varying type of entertainment expenses incurred for employees, clients and others. This will ensure that PIHH accurately determines the amount of input tax claimable.
6. Determine the processes and systems changes required to adhere to the new policy.
7. Implement processes and systems changes.

 - Air fares, accommodation and meals for speakers / guest artistes attending conferences / concerts in Penang
 - Food and refreshments for staff during festive seasons
 - Annual trip for staff
- These expenses may have been logged into 'Food & refreshment' and 'Artist performance' account.

GST Implication

- Based on GST Guideline, no input tax claim is allowed for any entertainment expenses to a person other than employees or existing customers (i.e. potential customers, suppliers, vendors and third party). Input tax for entertainment to employee and existing customer is recoverable.
- "Entertainment expense" includes —
 - the provision of any food, drink, recreation or hospitality of any kind, or
 - the provision of accommodation or travel associated with the provision of food, drink or recreation by a person or an employee of his to anyone in connection with a trade or business carried on by that person.

"recreation or hospitality" would include:

 Title: Compliance: Employee Benefits

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may provide a number of benefits to staff. PIHH may incur input tax on some of these goods or services provided to PIHH's staff. Among the benefits that could be provided by PIHH are:

- Goods intended for use during work e.g. uniforms to staff;
- Advances to staff;
- Leave passage.

GST Implication

2. For GST purposes, employee benefits refers to any goods or services provided free to employees. These goods and services acquired and given free as employee benefits are considered as used "for the purpose of business" for which the input tax incurred are claimable.

3. In general, PIHH is required to account for output tax on all goods given free as employee benefits except for the following items:

- i. Goods given free to employees as stated in the contract of employment.
- ii. Exempt or zero rated supply.
- iii. Supply of goods under "gift rule".

4. In the case of free services provided to employee, except to connected person who is not entitled to claim input tax credit, there is no requirement to account for output tax because it is not regarded as a supply.

5. "Gift rule" is the supply of goods for free (to an employee or a third party) where the cost of the goods given (to the same person in the same year) is not more than RM500. PIHH must account for GST on free goods given to employee if the cost of those goods exceed RM500 per person per year. Once the 'RM500' threshold is exceeded, PIHH must account for GST on the 'open market value' of that good and any subsequent goods given free to that employee over the remaining course of the year. The GST amount must be accounted for and paid in the corresponding GST return for the month in which the free goods was given. (Refer to issue log on "Goods provided for free")

6. Goods, tools and equipment issued to employees to perform their work or employment (i.e. business purposes only) which are to be returned is not considered a supply and no output tax need to be accounted.

7. The requirement to account for output tax on free goods given to employees may be avoided if :

- The HR policy of PIHH requires all goods given to employee to be returned to PIHH at the end of the employees' service; the goods would arguably not be considered gifts and hence no output tax is to be accounted when issued to the staff.
- PIHH imposes a charge (consideration) for all goods given away in a year to staff (e.g. the salary deduction for the current year's goods that are not returned to PIHH)

- on the cessation of employment).
- Revised contract of employment to include such benefits where necessary.

8. Otherwise, PIHH would need to maintain a tracking system recording all goods:

- on which it was entitled to input tax credit on purchase;
- subsequently issued to staff;
- returnable or non-returnable at the end of the staff service; and
- that are allowed to be permanently retained by staff even though initially issued to staff on returnable basis.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Identify and determine the category of goods or services that are provided to employees
2. Identify items covered under your employee benefits and its respective GST treatment.
3. Identify items that are subjected to deemed output tax.
4. Seek clarification from Customs on any ambiguity in GST treatment.
5. Update HR policy, guidelines, processes and systems changes for GST compliance on free goods to employees

Title: Compliance: Reimbursement of staff expenses / claims

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH's staff may incur a number of expenses such as travel, transportation and entertainment, in the course of their employment and performance of services, of which PIHH will subsequently reimburse its staff for these expenses.

GST Implication

2. PIHH can claim input tax on reimbursement of expenses incurred by staff for business purposes provided that PIHH keep all the documentation for the input tax claim (refer issue log on Compliance: Documentation to Claim Input Tax Credit).

3. The staff would need to ensure that the tax invoices are collected and submitted to PIHH when making the claim for reimbursement.

4. For a reimbursement with value of goods or services more than RM500, the staff would need to ensure that full tax invoice is obtained and it is in the full name of PIHH. This will allow PIHH to claim the full input tax credit. If the full tax invoice is under the staff name, or any other name (other than PIHH), PIHH shall not be able to claim back the input tax credit incurred.

5. For reimbursement with value of goods or services less than RM500, a simplified tax invoice would be sufficient whereby PIHH's name will not be recorded on the simplified tax invoice. However, under GST Guide, the maximum amount of input tax credit that PIHH can claim on a single simplified tax invoice is restricted to RM30.

6. However, there are also some employment related expenses for which input tax cannot be claimed even if a valid tax invoice is held under PIHH's name (refer to issue log on Compliance: Blocked Input Tax).

7. You will need to review and establish systems and processes to deal with reimbursement claims to ensure that input tax claims are maximised and that blocked input tax is not claimed.

Flow Chart:

2. Categorise reimbursement claims as business expenses or private expenses.
3. Review the current policy on staff claims and documentation required and assess the changes required to ensure GST compliance.
4. Review and establish systems and processes to deal with reimbursement claims to ensure that input tax claims are maximised and that blocked input tax is not claimed.

 Title: Compliance: Goods provided for free

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH may giveaway souvenirs / door gifts to event participants.

GST Implication

2. The current GST Guide proposes that where goods are given away without consideration, GST is accountable on the goods (as a deemed supply) on its 'open market value' ("OMV").

3. However, the transfer or disposal of a business assets is not a supply of goods if it is made as:
 - a gift in the course or furtherance of the business to the same person in the same year and the total cost to the business is not more than RM500 ("Gift rule"); or
 - a gift of an industrial or commercial sample to an actual or potential customer in a form not ordinarily available for sale to the public.

4. The GST amount will not be recovered from the recipient of the goods but PIHH will have to account for the deemed output tax in the GST return for the month in which the goods are provided to the recipient.

5. In order to comply with the 'RM500 per person per year' rule, there will need to be a tracking mechanism in place. This will ensure PIHH does not account for GST unnecessarily. This would be an additional administrative cost to PIHH.

6. The annual limit will mean that it is possible to meet the RM500 threshold by giving a series of small gifts (e.g. RM100 first month, RM200 second month and RM300 third month) over the course of a year to a single person. This will require PIHH to develop a system where PIHH can closely monitor and track the free goods provided.

7. On the contrary, PIHH may choose not to track, but instead account GST for all goods given out for free. However this would mean an opportunity lost for PIHH to benefit from the exceptions provided under this rule.

8. As 'goods provided for free' are currently not captured as 'revenue' items, PIHH will also need to develop a separate process whereby the GST on these deemed supplies are captured in the GST Return for the month in which the goods are given away.

9. Gifts of services or any 'intangible' items are not subject to the Gift rule. Further, monetary vouchers are also not subject to GST.

10. As for sample given out for free, there is no limitation on the value or the quantity of the gift of an industrial or commercial sample to actual or potential customer. However, the sample must not be in the form of goods the business normally sells to the public.

11. PIHH would still be entitled to recover full input tax credits on the purchases of the goods provided for free.

12. Where goods are received for free (i.e. free goods received from suppliers) and subsequently give-away, PDCC does not need to account for output tax on the give-away.

13. Except for connected person, no GST needs to be accounted for services provided for free e.g. free delivery of goods.

Flow Chart:

Work Plan:

Recommendations

1. Review and assess marketing strategies from different channels where goods are given away free.
2. Segregate and record free gifts given from own stock and those received from suppliers.
3. Awareness of deemed supplies when formulating marketing strategies in the future.
4. Management to make strategic decision on whether goods will continue to be given free, the value of such gifts and whether PIHH will attempt to track free goods.
5. Consider proper controls for goods given out for free - map process flow of goods given away free to ensure GST is captured.
6. Education and communication to relevant staff.

 - PIHH provides free consultancy services on setting up new halal business at the Penang Halal Industry Park

GST Implication

2. The supply of services for no consideration may be deemed a supply. In summary, the provision of the following services for no consideration will give rise to a deemed supply situation and PIHH has to account for output tax:-

- Provision of free services to employees - PIHH does not need to account for output tax on free services provided to employees as it is not considered a supply.
- Provision of free services to third parties - PIHH does not need to account for output tax on free services provided to third parties, including PIHH's employees and customers.
- Provision of free services to connected person (related parties) - PIHH will need to account for output tax on the open market value of the free services provided to connected person and related parties who are not entitled to claim input tax credit.
- Deemed supply of services - PIHH must account for output tax on deemed supply of service when assets of the business is:-
 - Put to private use
 - Used for the purpose other than business; or
 - Made available for another person but not done in the course or furtherance of business.

3. GST shall need to be accounted on the Open Market Value of the supply of free services above.

- PIHH may dispose off / write off assets such as:-
 - Computers and software;
 - Furniture and fittings;
 - Office equipment.

GST Implication

2. Where PIHH disposes assets for a consideration, GST is accounted on the sale proceeds received (not on the written down value) and a tax invoice must be issued to the purchaser. The exception is where the assets are destroyed and written off or the assets are 'blocked input tax items' (refer to issue log on "Blocked input tax").

3. PIHH will be required to identify and track the proceeds received, account for GST and issue tax invoice for the disposal of assets.

4. Moving forward, PIHH may want to consider assigning a GL code specific to the disposal of assets which will allow PIHH to identify /distinguish between the assets which are:

- written off / destroyed
- disposed to third parties
- disposed to related parties*
- blocked input tax

*For goods / equipment / assets disposed to related parties, GST would be accounted for by PIHH on the open market value.

GST Implication: Background

1. PIHH receives sponsorship in the form of cash for halal events and in return provides advertising space for sponsors.
2. PIHH also makes cash donations for charity purpose as part of its Corporate Social Responsibility initiative.

GST Implication

Sponsorship received in cash

3. To the extent that no benefits are provided by PIHH in return for the cash sponsorship received, no GST shall need to be accounted.
4. Where PIHH provides any benefits / services in return to the cash sponsorship received (i.e. advertisement of the sponsor's company logo, banner and etc.), PIHH shall need to ensure that a valid tax invoice is issued to the sponsor and the value would be based on the sponsorship received (as a consideration).
5. Moving forward, in negotiating these sponsorship arrangements, agreement will need to be reached with the sponsor on whether the amount received will be 'inclusive' or 'exclusive' of GST.

Sponsorship received in goods/services

6. If there are no benefits provided by PIHH in receiving the goods/services sponsorship, no GST shall need to be accounted.
7. However, if there are any benefits/services being provided by PIHH in return to the goods/services received (barter arrangements), PIHH shall be required to issue a tax invoice for its supply of benefits/services provided to the sponsor. The value of the supply in this case would be the open market value of the consideration received (i.e. value of the goods/services received).

Sponsorship made by PIHH

8. If sponsorship in cash is made and no benefits is received by PIHH, there shall be no GST implication as there are no supply by PIHH.
9. Where PIHH derives a benefit from the sponsorship payment (such as advertisement of PIHH's logo, banners etc) from the recipient, GST will be applicable if the recipient is registered for GST purposes. It shall be the GST-registered recipient's responsibility to issue a tax invoice to PIHH. Hence, PIHH is able to claim the input tax credit.

10. Any sponsorship/donation of goods shall be considered as deemed supply of goods if its value is more than RM500 per person per year ("Gift rule") (refer to issue log on Compliance: Goods Provided for Free).

- Filing fees to SSM (companies commission) for lodgement of statutory forms
- Stamp duty
- EPF, SOCSO, PCB in respect of staff's salary

GST Implication

2. All supplies made by Federal and State Government are disregarded for GST purposes i.e. they will not be subject to GST. This means payments made to Federal and State Governments will not contain any claimable input tax for PIHH.

3. In respect of statutory bodies and local authorities, only supplies they make as part of their regulatory and enforcement functions will be disregarded for GST purposes. All other supplies made outside their regulatory and enforcement functions will be subject to GST.

4. It will be the responsibility of the relevant statutory body and local authority to identify which of its supplies are provided in a 'regulatory function' and disregarded for GST purposes and which are 'commercial' in nature and subject to GST. This is not PIHH's responsibility.

GST Implication

2. When PIHH incurs foreign GST / VAT, PIHH cannot claim an input tax credit in the Malaysian GST return; only Malaysian input tax (GST) charged on taxable supplies made in Malaysia is claimable.

3. Where an overseas party invoices PIHH for supplies consumed in their country, any foreign GST / VAT incurred on these supplies cannot be claimed as an input tax credit in Malaysia.
